Class of 2019: We left our marks

One day, it will be your last first day, your last pep assembly, Friday night football game, your last high school lunch, your last time parking in the Senior lot, and the last laugh in the classroom with your favorite teacher. It is important to take note of these lasts because they will never be revisited again. Not in the same moment, feeling or state of mind.

Our great year commenced with what it consists of every year; the first day of school. We all got greeting emails from our GBC dual-enrollment professors if we were going that route or we were getting several sheets of paper to take home for our parents to sign. Everyone was going in through the glass hallway doors to see the blue and gold “Welcome Back, Lowry!” letters painted on the windows or parking in the Senior parking lot for the very first time and feeling like you’ve earned it. That was 283 days ago.

The new backpacks, pencils, binders, clothes, and shoes will never have the same effect as they did these last 12 years of our lives. To some, going to sleep early to go to school the next day will be something to be missed but to others, having no more of that every day will be the best thing they’ve ever heard. Whatever the feelings may be, the last four years happened and I hope we can all say that they were some of the most carefree and fun times we will have.

The Homecoming theme this year was Spooky Week and the dress up days included a Dia de los Muertos color war, Goblin and Ghoul Day, and Buckaroo trick or treat day. PowderPuff and He-Man were dominated by the seniors; once again. Although varsity football lost their game against Elko, we all celebrated the next day anyway at the annual Hoco dance.

The Winterfest spirit week was A Buckaroo Road Trip. Each class was assigned the East coast, West coast, Midwest, or the South for hallway decorating. The Monday dress up day was Florida Day, Tuesday was New York Day, Wednesday was Colorado Day, Thursday was Oregon Day and of course, Friday was Blue and Gold Day. There were pep assemblies that demonstrated just how involved our class loves to be. Although we didn't make it to the end of the "Heads or Tails" activity, we sure did make it through without cheating. ;)

Regardless of how we feel about these past four years at Albert M. Lowry High School, it is safe to say that nothing will be getting easier from here and these were the years to have fun. There will be more responsibilities, bills, late nights, early mornings, and multiple circumstances that life will throw at us that we will have to make the necessary sacrifices for. Some of us may already be experiencing life-changing circumstances. Leaving home is one of those times. The most important thing, however, is to keep in mind that there is nobody that can live your life better than yourself. There will be times after graduating high school, where it all seems like too much. Don't give up your motivation, life will always be full of ups and downs but we have to persevere. Nothing is stronger than hope. With that hope and perseverance, you can make amazing things happen.

Today, we will be putting on our blue or gold gowns, putting on our graduation regalia, taking pictures with some of our classmates for the last time and walking up to greet our teachers and administrators for what may be the last time as well. Let us take what we have learned and put it to use to have the best times of our lives. It was great knowing you all.

Ready to meet your new teachers?

Although the end of the year signifies a goodbye to many of our favorite teachers, it also represents an opportunity to welcome new faces. With the beginning of the 2019-2020 school year, 6 new staff members will join our community at Lowry. Many of you already know Jessica Mayo, who has just recently started her job in the counseling office. Chelsea Odoms from WJHS will be teaching English. Jeanette Montero will be coming on board as a social worker for HCSD. The Special Education department will gain two new additions: Laurel Weaver, and Army Veteran Larry Renteria. A new Automotive Technologies teacher will also be joining us.

The new staff is more than prepared to do whatever they can for their students.

"I will be here to work with you," said Renteria. "I want to be one of your greatest assets... I want to be there to assist, inspire, listen, and make a difference in the lives of others however they see fit.... I will work as hard as needed so that you can achieve your dreams and goals, so long as you are willing to work with me. My door is always open for any student who wants to learn and better themselves for a brighter tomorrow."

As always, our teachers expect just as much their students as their students expect of them.

"I want my students to have fun while learning," said Odoms. "Their behavior definitely determines the dynamic in the classroom...I also want them to know that they are valued and their opinions matter, but that they need to express them respectfully. I try my hardest to make sure that they get the most out of their educational journey, and I expect them to do the same."

Mayo plans to be as supportive of the students as she can.

"I plan on contributing to Lowry in any way that I can," said Mayo. "I enjoy sports, school, and getting to know people. I want to be someone that students can come to for help with any problem...I am most excited to continue working with students to help them excel in their classes and figure out next steps after high school."

Each new teacher has their own motivation for pursuing the career path they did.

"I had a very influential high school teacher, Mrs. Tirabassi, who showed me exactly how amazing English is," said Odoms. "She made me want to become a high school teacher so that I can spread my love for English and maybe help some young adults before they exit high school."

Many regarded our school with a glowing review.

"I've taught in many different types of special education classrooms," said Webber. "I took this job at Lowry High School because of the excellent reputation of your staff, from administration all the way to your Education support team."

Six staff members also 'graduating' this year

Sadly this year, Lowry will be losing six very special teachers. Among the four are, Mr. John Aberasturi, Mr. Jacob Evans, Ms. Amie Godinez, Mrs. Michelle Pasquale, Mrs. Lynette Whalen, and Ms. Michele Hammersmark. These teachers have made a special impact at Lowry and will be missed deeply.

Godinez will always remember the trips she got to take with her students to foreign countries.

"My trips abroad to foreign countries [are unforgettable]," said Godinez.

Aberasturi will miss all of the great memories he has made during his time at Lowry.

"I will miss the students that have a real desire and drive to learn Automotive Mechanics. I will also miss my co-workers, the Administrative staff, and the secretaries and bookkeeper," said Aberasturi. "My plans are to move to my cabin at Wild Horse, NV. where I will enjoy hunting, fishing, RZR riding, and motorcycle riding in the area. I would like to travel around the United States in my RV. My favorite memory is taking the qualifying Lowry Automotive Technology students to the Ford/AAA National Finals in Washington, DC."

Elias Arechiga will miss how enjoyable Aberasturi's automotive class was.

"I will miss how Mr. Aberasturi taught his class. He taught in a way that I could understand," said Elias Arechiga. "I really enjoyed his class."

Godinez has always been very committed to teaching to her best ability, and her students respect that.

"I will miss the way Mrs. Godinez is very engaged in her classes, and how she cares about each and every student," said Dylan Perkins.

Chance Huitt will miss being pushed to get better at writing.

"I will miss how committed Mr. Evans was to us, and how he always pushed us to become better writers," said Huitt.

Tatyana Munoz will miss how her class would be fun, but everyone would still complete their work.

"I will miss how Mrs. Pasquale would make her classes fun, but still able to get work done," said Munoz.

Andrew Cisneros will miss how much work was completed in Hammersmark's class.

"I will miss how strict she was because I actually got work done," said Cisneros.

While only being here for two years, Evans has made a ton of memories that he will take with him back to Montana.

"There are too many memories to just choose one. The kids and staff here are amazing. Working with you all in the classroom and on the basketball court has been unforgettable," said Evans. "One of my favorite memories is beating Elko in 2018 to go undefeated. Also, our game against Fallon in 2019 where Drew Harmon banked in a three-pointer for the win in the last minute. There are so many funny memories in the classroom. Including Chance [Huitt] pulling out a chicken nugget from a pink sweater vest in the middle of class."

Senior Voices: What are you most excited about for graduation?

Where are they now: The Class of 2018

The class of 2018 was an exciting class. But where are the seniors now?

Donnie Swanson went on to Join the Military.

"Well, I'm currently stationed over at Fort Campbell Kentucky/Tennessee. I'm with the 101st Airborne (Air Assault) division. I'm an 11B or Infantryman. Currently been doing a lot of training and learning on how my job works and doing better at it. Any more questions feel free to email me back! Not sure what else you like to know," said Donnie Swanson via email.

Hailey Hinkle went on to go to college at BYU.

"I am attending BYU, I am studying elementary education. I just finished my first year with a 3.7 GPA. I am home for the summer and will be working at Global Coffee and at Barrick as a summer student," said Hailey Hinkle via text.

Shelby Garrison went on to UNR to run track.

"I'm going to school at UNR and majoring in biology to become a physician's assistant. I've also been running track this year for Nevada which has been a lot of fun," said Shelby Garrison via text.

Sylvie Prokasky has stayed in Winnemucca to attend Great Basin College.

"I am currently attending Great Basin College at the Winnemucca campus. I am also working at the college as a Tutor/Proctor. I applied to the Radiology Program this Spring. If accepted into the program, I will transfer to Elko to take classes there. I am on track to graduate in Spring of 2020 with an Associate's of Applied Science with an emphasis of Radiology Technology," said Sylvie Prokasky via text.

Cody Noyes went to Alaska to be a packer and a guide.

"Since I've graduated high school I have been a packer in Alaska, guiding hunts for a couple of months, went on to guide hunts for Nevada High Ridge Outfitters," said Noyes. "I am very soon going to serve a mission for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in New Mexico," said Noyes.

Senior will

To Mr. Espy, some motivated and interested students to make things easier for him.

To Samm, a cure for Senioritis so ranting and eye bags will be a thing of the past.

To Clarissa, a separate period for The Brand instead of two combined classes and steel bones that can't break.

To people who wait for another person to open the door for them, a butter sock swing to the face.

To Mrs. Dawson, a free trip to France or Italy and an unlimited supply of French desserts.

To The Brand, some students at the beginning of the year who don't quit before signing the syllabus.

To Mr. Dickson, more students to make him geometry posters.

To Mr. Corak, a record-breaking recitation of Pi that will replace Akira Haraguchi's record.

To upcoming seniors, extra motivation to actually go to school every day.

To Mr. Mayo and Mr. Sorenson, another fantastic year of Honor Society.

To the swim team, the ability to hold your breath for a whole 50-yard sprint.

To the Class of 2019, the best time of our lives after we walk off the stage on June 6.

Goodbye to Brand seniors :(

This year, The Brand is saying goodbye to Ale Ibarra and Taylor Gleason; who I'm sure both used Espy's Keurig about 200 times. Over the course of the year, both had their ups and downs, but their time in The Brand will never be forgotten.

Ibarra has been a member of The Brand for three years, including one as the managing editor. This was Gleason's first year in The Brand, but both girls wish they would've taken The Brand their entire high school career.

Ibarra is also a member of the Congress of Future Medical Leaders Alumni, President of National Honor Society in Winnemucca and on the swim team. Gleason has been a part of the Queen Association and was Rodeo Queen her sophomore and junior year while being a member of the Rodeo Club and FFA.

Ibarra stated that she has become a more well-rounded writer because of The Brand and even Mr. Espinola.

"I can write from all kinds of perspectives and although I have my own opinion on one matter, I won't let that override an opinion other than my own in my writing," said Ibarra. "Mr. Espinola has shown me a glimpse of the real world by exchanging political views and just normal everyday stupidity of some people."

Gleason mentioned that she learned how to take pictures and learn certain applications through this class.

"I got to learn how to use all different kind of apps; for example Photoshop, Buffer, and Twitter, along with learning more about how Google Docs and Drive work," said Gleason. "I also got to learn a lot about how to work a camera; like how to change the settings to make a picture brighter or darker and how to make sure the pictures are not blurry."

Ibarra's favorite part about The Brand was obviously debating/talking with Espy.

Success, failure, elation, sadness: a year in Lowry Sports

Varsity football getting ready. /Ron Espinola • The Brand

A year in sports review

This year has been very successful for most of our sports teams. With more practice, new coaches, our sports teams are ready to come out next season better than ever.

FOOTBALL

Varsity football made it to playoffs, with a 6-6 overall record. In the first round of the playoffs, they beat Elko 41-13 almost reversing the score from two weeks earlier of 42-13. In the second round of the playoffs, the Buckaroos fell short to Truckee 42-6. This year, the football team will be losing Josiah Chapman, Brendan Domire, Dorsey Navaran, Caleb Sanchez, Scottie Smith, Rodolfo Cole, Rene Flores, Evan Jeppsen, Tony Mendoza, Jakeb Snyder.

BOYS SOCCER

This season didn't go so well, they won only four games overall, but they learned a lot about what needs to be improved upon heading into next year. The boys defeated Incline Village 9-1, and Churchill County 7-0. This year, the boys soccer team will be losing Rafael Echeverria, Antonio Gallarzo, Alejandro Gallarzo, and Chris Schultz.

GIRLS SOCCER

The varsity girls soccer team ended their season with 3-14-1 overall. The girls defeated Elko 2-1 and Sparks 3-1, and tied Sparks 2-2. This year, the girls soccer team will be losing seniors Hannah Growcock, Zafiro Cano, Celeste Castellanos, Macy Munroe, and Victoria Tirado as well as coaches Ed and Jen Partee.

VOLLEYBALL

This year was pretty successful for the volleyball team, who went 8-16-0 overall. The girls defeated Sparks 3-0, and North Valleys 3-1. They did not make it to state this year but learned a lot on what needs to be improved on for the next season. This year, the volleyball team will be losing seniors Andrea Escobedo, Brooke Hansen, and Julianne Montero as well as head coach Brandon Eastman.

CROSS COUNTRY

This season was very successful for our cross country team. The team secured a spot at state with their excellent running ability and their commitment to running. At state, all of the runners ran the best races of their careers. The team won the academic all-state award for Northern Nevada. This year, cross country will be losing seniors Rebecca Kuskie, Christian Olson, and Will Kracaw.

GIRLS GOLF

With excellent coaching, they placed at least top three every tournament. The team went to state and placed 4th overall. Tatyana Carlson was recognized as the 3A NIAA Northern Nevada State Champ. This year, girls golf will be losing seniors Tatyana Carlson, Tanner Havens, and Mekenzie Vandemark.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

The girl's basketball overall standing was 17-11 and 14-4 in the league. The girls made it to regionals where they played Spring Creek and beat them 46-31, then went on and played Churchill County and lost 67-48. They ended their season to the 2019 NIAA Girls Basketball Championship Tournament. On Friday, March 1 they lost to Moapa Valley 42-38. Going into state they were the #2 seed.

the boys didn't have the season they had hoped, they kept their head held high and improved game after game.

SENIORS: Oscar Juanes, Brendan Domire, Dorsey Naveran, Scottie Smith

WRESTLING

The wrestling team started their season mid-November and finished early February. Throughout the season coach John Brooks and coach Brant Corak put the boys to work. This season, there were nine wrestlers headed to state. Out of the nine, only three made it to the championship matches. The three wrestlers were Anthony Peterson who finished 2nd, Cade Bell finishing 2nd, and Taylor Corak finishing 2nd as well. Overall as a team, they finished 5th.

SENIORS: Isaiah Blanco, Josiah Chapman, Jimmy Rackley

BASEBALL

The Baseball team ended the season 10-17 and 7th place in league. This Baseball season the Lowry fell short of the playoffs by a couple of games. The Bucks started the season off rough but came together to pull off some big wins. The Bucks came out against Elko and took a win from the Indians.

Lowry Baseball will be losing Brendan Domire, Jake Marriott, Kyle Sappington, Ridge Ricketts, Chris Schultz and Josiah Chapman. Head coach Andy Harmon and JV coach Clay Sagers also stepped down.

SOFTBALL

The Lowry softball team has made it to State this season. The girls did exceptionally well in Playoffs beating the Dust Devils and earning themselves a spot in the State Tournament. The girls lost two games that knocked them out of the state tournament. The Lady Bucks finished the season 20-16. The softball team will lose three seniors this year including Sydney Connors, Madi McClellan, Macey Katzenmeyer.

TRACK

The Lowry track team has had a great season this year. They have a lot of runners going into State. Including Rachel Garrison and Heather Hall who placed 3rd and 4th for. Rachel Garrison also placed. The seniors they will be losing are Becca Kuskie, Will Kracaw, Lily Pasquale, Scottie Smith, Heather Hall, and Rachel Garrison. Becca Kuskie, Will Kracaw, Heather Hall,

The 2019 athletes who are moving on up

Each year, hundreds of athletes compete in sports. A fortunate few get to go on and continue to the next level. The class of 2019 is no different.

Although Tatyana Carlson had several options, she will be attending Lewis-Clark State in Idaho for golf.

"There were a few colleges on the east that talked to me and offered a good scholarship but they were too far away for me. I wanted to go to Lewis-Clark State because I felt like I kind of clicked with the team," said Carlson. "I did my college visit and met with everyone. They were all super welcoming. This college gave me a good offer to pay for most of my schooling so I basically have to pay for my meal plan and one or two classes and they pay for the rest."

Will Kracaw is going to be going to the College of Idaho for cross country. He explained why he chose this school. "It was closer to home than a lot of other schools that offer scholarships and then they also gave me a good scholarship along with academic scholarships that I had earned at the school the scholarship was $5000 a year" said Kracaw.

Becca Kuskie will be attending Northwest Christian University in Oregon for cross country. In addition to her family, others have played a key role in her success.

"Kitty Norcutt has inspired me to become as good a runner as I have been and she is kind of like a second mom to me," said Kuskie. "She was always there for me whenever I need something. If I have something super important to do she is very understanding and will let me do it."

Presentation College in South Dakota for football.

"They made me a good offer and going to college for football has always been a dream of mine so it was an easy choice," said Sanchez.

Brooke Hansen will be attending Culver-Stockton College in Canton, Missouri. She already signed with their volleyball team in February.

Hansen knows that this school will help her become the person she wants to be.

"The classroom sizes are smaller, and it's just a good environment for me to be around," said Hansen. "I really liked how the college is smaller and all the people were really nice."

Coach of the Year: Grant Beatty

Grant Beatty seems to be a quiet, laid-back person but in reality, is extremely competitive.

According to Beatty, who has coached freshman and JV basketball and varsity track, he coaches for the competition and to see the growth in his athletes.

"I really love sports I love competing as an athlete I love being in sports as an adult really fun to help kids find success and see them have fun doing it and grow," said Beatty. "I like winning I really like winning it's really fun to see the kids grow and really develop and come together it's really fun to see them make that jump to the varsity level see them contribute see them continue on their athletic careers."

Junior Blake Jauregui was on JV basketball and liked the style Beatty coaches.

"He is a fun coach but he knows when it's time to get serious and pushes us to do our best and to be the best on the court," said Jauregui. "Beatty is very involved with us and is a very determined coach because he knows what we are all capable of."

Junior Julianna Gonzalez was on the track team appreciated Beatty and the way he coached them.

"Beatty is a very good coach he brings the team up tells us to keep our heads up and to not give up under any circumstances, he pushes us to our limits and makes us better," said Gonzalez.

Assistant coach Don Walton is very fond of coach Beatty.

"Coach Beatty is a great teacher. He breaks skills into simple components so his players can build on those fundamentals to increase their overall skill," said Walton.

The style and way Beatty coaches varies to his sport he is coaching at the time.

"In basketball it varies I try to be hands-on, try to interact with the kids as much as I can sometimes I can be a little intense I try to be a little calm, I try to use humor all those things," said Beatty. "In track, I think it's a little different it's more of like a managing style try to make sure my position coaches are good that are athletes are handling their responsibilities on and off the field more like a manager role."

Sophomore Anthony Gildone was on the JV basketball team and believes Beatty is a great coach.

"Coach Beatty is a great coach I like the way he coaches it brings everybody together and is a very helping coach," said Gildone.

Winning and being the best is a goal but Beatty focuses on what is more important the athletes.

"I Really enjoyed coaching basketball I love basketball and the games are intense I get into them I love getting a group of guys together and helping them grow and helping them find the chemistry and see the end of the year results," said Beatty.

Athlete of the year: Sydney Connors

There are many athletes that are introduced to sports at a very early age in life that causes them to stay focused on one, or all of them, into their later years. Each year, a senior athlete is chosen. Someone who has exemplified all of the necessary qualities that make them a worthy choice. This year, it is Sydney Connors.

Connors has played sports like soccer, basketball, and softball “ever since she could walk”.

“I just enjoyed each of those sports and that is what made me want to continue,” said Connors.

Sydney’s varsity basketball coach and longtime family friend, Mrs. Chelsea Cabatbat, has known her long enough to know what kind of athlete she has become.

“I have known Sydney for a very long time. I can remember her as a little girl always running around playing every sport. I can remember watching her toss a football around and thinking to myself ‘wow she got a great arm’,” said Cabatbat.

According to Cabatbat, Connors has a “very high sports IQ and is very talented in every sport she does”.

“She has excelled in basketball and softball over the last four years. Oh and we can’t forget about all those great passes she has thrown in the powder puff games throughout the last four years,” said Cabatbat. “I have witnessed Sydney make amazing passes to her teammates because she sees the floor so well. She understands game situations and she can create opportunities for herself and her teammates in critical situations.”

Cabatbat has good memories from her times coaching this Athlete of the Year.

“I will never forget all the times when we were inbounding the ball under our basket and the defense had their back turned,” said Cabatbat. “She would bounce that ball right off the back of the defender step inbounds and hit a big shot. It would make the other coaches so upset. She is just a very smart athlete.”

Connors has good memories of her times at the high school and admits that her motivation came from her closest family member.

“I think going to state for basketball and softball [was the best memory] actually,” said Connors. “I will miss playing with my friends because we created so many good memories that will last forever. I know that they will always be there for me when I’m gone and I’ll always be there for them. [I will also never forget that] my brother [Calvin] because he pushed me to be better every time I played that sport.”

Connors’ parents have been there to guide her throughout every bump in the road and encourage her to embrace the silver linings.

“They have supported me throughout my career and have always been there for me,” said Connors. “They have always told me to think about the next play. If I strike out or miss a shot, forget about it and worry about what is going to happen next.”

Cabatbat has seen Sydney flourish into a well-rounded athlete and could not be more proud of her.

“Sydney has been so fun to watch over the last few years. I will never forget all the three-point shots she made and how excited the crowd would get and all the home runs she has sent sailing over the fence. always made the big plays sports she played,” said

Sydney in whatever Cabatbat.

Connors will miss her time here at high school and will continue her endeavors at the University of Nevada, Reno.

Athlete of the year: Brendan Domire

Every sports year has its ups and downs. This year, we’ve seen it all, from the greatest of victories to the harshest of losses. Like every year before, one athlete has risen to the top. This year, the honor of The Brand 2019 Athlete of the year goes to Brendan Domire.

Domire not only secured a spot on the Varsity team in all three of his sports, but excelled in doing so.

“We don’t have many three-sport athletes that produce the way he has produced,” said Varsity Football coach, Taua Cabatbat. “As athletes are concerned, he did a really good job contributing to Lowry High School’s athletic program.”

It is easy to shy away from athletic involvement because of the difficulty involved. Despite the challenges and fatigue that come with a tri-sport schedule, Domire wouldn’t have had it any other way.

“I’ve always played sports,” said Domire. “I love sports, so any time off, it just feels like I’m not doing what I should be doing. And I just have a love for all three games-football, basketball and baseball. I enjoy playing all three of them and I like competing at all times so it wasn’t really hard for me to say ‘Hey, I want to play this sport.’ I couldn’t go without playing a sport.”

It was that love and enthusiasm that made Domire’s athletic talent.

“He plays with passion,” said Cabatbat. “When he is determined, whether its football, basketball or baseball, he gives his all and he’s willing to do whatever...He was the first one willing to step up and put himself out there, granted he’s never played the position before, or we’ve never seen him at practice before, we believe that he had enough passion in him that he was going to excel. If he said he wanted to do it, we gave him free reign. That’s what separates him from a lot of athletes.”

Domire really had it all when it comes to his athletic career. The enthusiasm, the prowess, even the respect.

“His senior year he really bloomed into a leader; not only on the football field, but what I’ve seen basketball and baseball wise,” said Cabatbat. “A lot of people look up to the effort that he’s put in and understand that he is that guy that they trust to follow...I think he has a really good sense of humor. He’s true to his friends, and I think that those qualities, those traits of a leader, it really shines.”

After graduation, Domire hopes to continue his athletic career, but his top priority is pursuing his dream of becoming a Physical Therapist.

“I can stay close to sports. I have sports in my heart; I always want to stay around it in some way.”

After a fulfilling athletic career, the only thing Domire regrets is his utilization of time.

“I wish I’d taken a little bit more time to put more of the little details in, instead of rushing through and trying to get to the bigger picture,” said Domire. “I kind of said, ‘I’ll do it next week...I’ll do it tomorrow.’ I wish I’d have taken the time to slow down and just enjoy and try to work on the smaller things. I know everyone says it, but it definitely goes by quick. I mean, I remember freshman year like it was yesterday, and now I’m a senior graduating in a couple of days. Enjoy the little things, and make as many friends as you can and make the best out of it.”

Art and CTE departments put work on display for community

The art and CTE programs had a presentation showing their work and their skills. The presentation took place on May 30, 2019.

“Our Annual Art and CTE Showcase are honestly one of my all-time favorite events of the year for both departments. For our Lowry High School student artists, it is the opportunity to showcase their artistic journey for the year,” said art teacher Ms. Julia Topholm. “The showcase this year has several new projects being displayed alongside projects that have become part of the Lowry High Art Tradition.”

Many artists have contributed some of their best work to the show.

“The artwork turned out really well and we are really proud of what we have displayed for people,” said Rosa Ibarra.

The showcase was in the Art and CTE buildings. Along with Mrs. Topholm the art teacher many talented students made some eye drawing work.

“Student work for across the LHS Art Department will be displayed highlighting the talent of our freshman through senior artists who have worked in a variety of artistic mediums this year,” said Topholm. “To put into words how proud I am of our Lowry High School Student Artists cannot be put into words, I am in just pure amazement looking at their pieces and how they have taken the skills they have learned to help them start to find their own artistic vision and voice.

The art students were very impressed by the artwork displayed.

“We put so much time into our pieces to make them the best we could, and it shows we have amazing work being displayed,” said Diana Moraila.

Senior Horoscopes: Predictions for your future

your tunnel vision.

Libra (September 23 – October 22) - Either Harvard or community college, since you have such a problem with being indecisive.

Scorpio (October 23 - November 21) - If you don't clean up your act, life will clean it up for you. It won't be pretty. One word: priorities.

Sagittarius (November 22 – December 21) - Just taking a wild guess here... bacon-grease slip-n-slide.

Capricorn (December 22 – January 19) - Take yourself seriously, otherwise no one will.

Aquarius (January 20 - February 18) - Keep growing your luscious locks and you'll soon join a heavy-metal band.

Pisces (February 18 - March 20) - Your truck will break down after your grad party. Unfortunately, you'll be stuck in Winnemucca for at least another month.

Aries (March 21 - April 19) - Since you follow through with absolutely nothing, our best guess is that you'll be offered a job at a high paying company and sleep through your alarm clock on your first day.

Taurus (April 20 - May 20) - Fast food. Either spending all your money on it or working it.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20) - You will want to become a geologist until you realize that chemistry is involved.

Cancer (June 21 - July 22) - Maintain your mental health with some Magnolia candles and bubble baths. One more breakdown and McDonald's for life it is.

Leo (July 23 - August 22) - You'll soon be the next King/Queen of England.

Virgo (August 23 – September 22) - You might not have every detail figured out. Who does though? Never lose

What's changed throughout the seniors' lives

If you really think about when the seniors were little, a has changed. No, I'm not talking about how we changed ourselves, but what we grew up playing with in comparison to what we play with now. When we were little, we used to play with Barbie dolls, Legos, Webkinz, stuffed animals, Razor scooters, face paint and so much more.

A very popular movie back in the 2000s was "X-Men".

In 2001, Bratz were very popular for the little girls out there.

Bop It was very popular in 2009. Just about every family had the game and was playing it.

Back in 2016, Facebook was the most popular social media out there, but now we're starting to turn to Instagram.

Around 2010, MTV was a very popular channel for early teens, but now that we have grown up, a lot of us have stopped watching shows from MTV.

In 2015, the phrases "THE BOMB" and "EPIC" were something all of us have used at least once, if not more. What happened to those sayings?

As children, cable TV was very popular. After school and in the morning we would sit down in front of the television as we got ready, or even when we were eating, but now a lot of families don't even own cable TV, but instead, we use Netflix, Hulu, Showbox, etc.

Snapchat was a very popular social media for taking pictures in 2011. Every picture you saw that was a selfie was taken with a Snapchat filter.

If you think about it, back in the 2000s, we used to use the flip phone. There were no touch screen phones out there. But now everyone, even seven-year-olds, has smartphones in their pockets. A lot that has changed since we were kids, but just wait; there will be more changing yet.

Artist of the Year: Myia Ray

Life-long artist Myia Ray was chosen for Artist of the Year. Ray has been creatively expanding her artistry for about 13 years now, and has been involved with Lowry's Art Department since freshman year. Although, her expressive nature somehow lead her to the track team, where she does throwing events such as shot put and discus.

Even though Ray seems to be a natural born artist, she didn't become very serious about it until her junior year.

"In class, I felt more inspired and intrigued," said Ray. "Toward my senior year, I took it more seriously and decided that I want a career in art."

Ray stated she is most comfortable painting with acrylics, but art teacher Ms. Julia Topholm believes Ray is skilled with all mediums.

"Myia is a very self-driven artist who over the years has used her natural artistic ability to acquire new skills and techniques," stated Topholm. "Her ability has helped her to embrace new styles, mediums and techniques she has learned in our art classes to develop her own very distinct style. Her combination of both natural ability and the willingness to learn and grow as an artist has put use new skills she has acquired over the years."

Topholm also believes Ray's work is of exquisite beauty and she always placed implicit meaning into her pieces.

"Working with Myia as a student the last four years I have had the opportunity see her grow so much and her willingness to push herself, seek guidance and create pieces that truly make people stop and take notice is so awe-inspiring," said Topholm.

Topholm admires Ray's growth and commitment to the Art Department, and has high hopes for Ray's future.

"Myia is a very humble and dedicated young artist," stated Topholm. "As her teacher, I cannot put into words how proud I am of her and her work. As a fellow artist, it has been a privilege to be part of her artistic journey this far and I know as she goes out into the world, her work will continue to develop beyond all expectations."

Performer of the Year: Evan Jeppsen

Evan Jeppsen was chosen by director Corrine James as Performer of the Year. During his high school career, Evan has been a member of football, basketball, swim and for two years now, a member of Drama.

Director James stated that Jeppsen is someone she can always count on and he has even mastered the music booth.

"He is always smiling and always helpful," said James. "Evan is absolutely amazing."

James also mentioned that Jeppsen contributes to the group in such a positive way and his skills as an actor are exceptional.

"His acting is excellent and his timing is perfect," said James. "He is subtle and funny. I will never forget his role as Stuart in the Christmas program and 'Awkward Birthday Party'."

In addition to Drama, Jeppsen is a member of the swim team. This year in specific, Coach Shelby Ruff stated that Jeppsen has greatly improved.

"Evan has really focused on increasing his level of conditioning," said Ruff. "He has worked harder and more consistently at practice than last year and it shows in his times. He has become a valuable member of the relay teams and will be missed next year."

Jeppsen is also notorious for his gummy bear print speedo and being the designated DJ on roadtrips.

Jeppsen stated that his favorite aspect of the class is the family-like feel to it. Drama taught him to "learn to love everyone, no matter what their situation is."

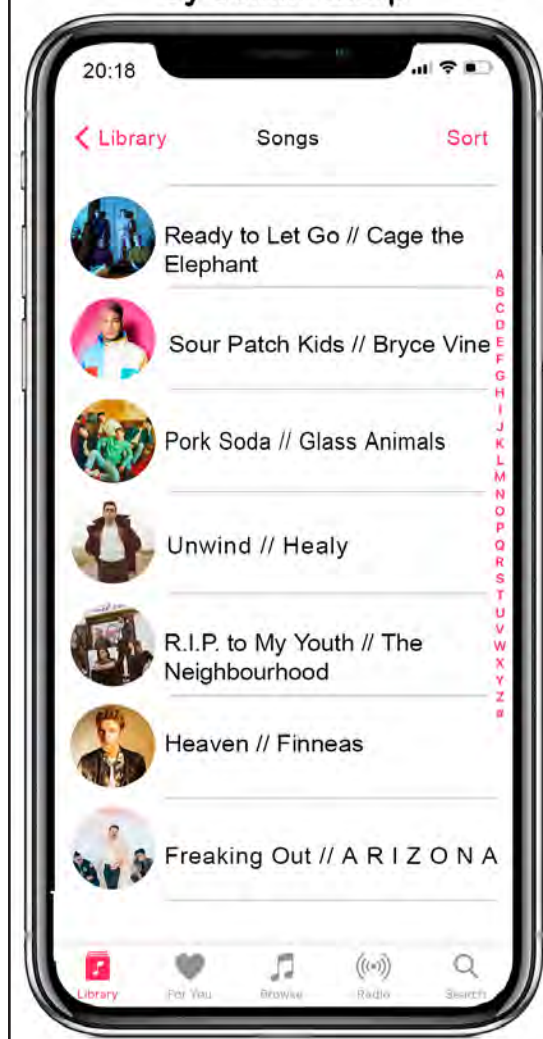

Jeppsen believes he will carry these 'dramatic' memories with him for a long time, one of the most important to him being the play, "A Fiddler on the Roof" at the beginning of his senior year.

"We got to all learn about the Jewish culture and how they were affected in Russia in the 1900's," said Jeppsen. "Everyone became great friends after, and I learned to appreciate musicals in a whole new way."
